Rachel Baggaley, MD, MSc

Coordinator, Key Populations and Innovative Prevention,
World Health Organization, Geneva, Switzerland

Rachel Baggaley has over 25 years of experience working on HIV programs and policy in all regions and in a range of clinical and community settings. She leads the HIV testing and prevention work for WHO, including the development of policy and guidance for adolescent girls and young women, key populations, community-based testing approaches, self-testing, and PrEP. She has recently led the development of the WHO PrEP Implementation guidance tool.

Wafaa El-Sadr, MD, MPH, MPA

Founder and Global Director, ICAP at Columbia University,
New York, USA

Wafaa El-Sadr is the Founder and Director of ICAP and an international expert in epidemiology and research on the prevention and management of HIV, tuberculosis, and other infectious diseases. For over three decades, she has advocated for families and communities most impacted by HIV, and championed a collaborative, multidisciplinary approach to confronting the global epidemic.

Stéphanie Koblavi Dème, PharmD, PhD

Country Director, ICAP in
Côte d'Ivoire

Stéphanie Koblavi Dème is ICAP's country director in Côte d'Ivoire. She has over 20 years of experience as a laboratory specialist and expertise in quality improvement through laboratory accreditation preparedness, laboratory training and quality management, laboratory network development, laboratory policy, and strategic planning.

Maria Lahuerta, PhD, MPH

Deputy Director, Strategic Information Unit, ICAP at Columbia University,
New York, USA

Maria Lahuerta is an epidemiologist and public health specialist with over 13 years of experience in research and program evaluation. As the deputy director of the Strategic Information Unit at ICAP, she oversees the design and implementation of systems to monitor and evaluate country- and project-specific programs, including large HIV service delivery programs in sub-Saharan Africa, with the goal of achieving HIV epidemic control.

Venance Kouakou, DEA-BHT, CES, MSc

Country Director, Heartland
Alliance in Côte d'Ivoire

Venance Kouakou has more than 10 years of experience in the fight against HIV/AIDS. From 2001 to 2004, he served as HTC coordinator in a local NGO (Lumière Action); from 2004 to 2008, he served as program manager at PSI for activities targeting rural zone populations and military forces; from 2008 to 2011, he served as technical advisor on OVC and nutrition and acting country coordinator at Program for Appropriate Technology in Health (PATH-CI).
